MEAT AND MATTER

The address of ex-Governor T. T Geer, at the Star Theatre last night, was a nourishing, revivifying, trenchant exposition of men and things republican as they relate to Oregon in the present political crisis (if crisis it can be called) and no citizen who heard him, left the hall unimpressed with the clarity, the dignity and essential value of his re- is compensation enough in the premise, marks as applied to the common predicate of good government, no matter what the peculiar political persuasion of the listener. It is such speeches as this that do a broader good than the mere bolstering of partizan claims; that offer deductions farther reaching than the apt questions of the hour; that are remembered and applied in other relations, and serve in the solution of other issues among men. He spoke from a large experience and contributed a wide and fruitful fund of practical information based upon conclusions that were patent and wholly applicable in their bearings to conditions now confronting the peo ple of the state. He minced nothing. evaded nothing, colored nothing, deprecated nothing; he told home truths and truths from abroad and said all in his purview and power for the honor and success of the republican party in Oregon and Clatsop. His speech was notable for the absence of all personal derogation and the recitation of ambignous and hurtful themes of a personal nature. He said his respects to the candidacy of the present governor, George E. Chamberlain, with a directness and honesty that can be exceeded only by what he might have said, and laid that gentleman's great and imposing "I" to rest, as far as Astoria is concerned. His exposition of the claims of the republican ticket to the uttermost faith and loyalty of the members of that party, was a masterful and happy one, and one that will meet with hearty response on Monday week. Tak en as a whole, the address wrought several results of consequence, chief among which, is that it tended to clear the party atmosphere here, and give the republicans of this city and county something to think of besides the small and essentially personal, themes that have engrossed them for some time past. charging them with a consciousness of the greater and graver duties of the state electorate. There can be no doubt in the mind of any thinking republican. that Governor Geer's address has swung wide the gates of good will and honest purpose in this field, and made it possible for old Clatsop to contribute her maximum to the party achievement on June 4th.

NOTICE TO DEMOCRATS!

Proclamation is hereby made, to all democrats. "citizens," grouchers, and other affiliates of democratic party in Clatsop county, that this city and county are REPUBLICAN, and in the present campaign for a fight to the last ditch! There may have been frictions, misunderstandings, injustices, procrastinations, mismanagement, all the elements of political disruption incident to the career of parties everywhere, but the living fact remains that as the hour of election approaches, the tolerance, the wisdom and the spontaneity of the men of Astoria and Clatsop who have cherished republican principles all their lives, are rallying to the support of the best and cleanest ticket put forward in years. This is inevitable. There is no other course open to the man with a soupcon of political honor; and the democratic program in state and county offering nothing of pre-eminent, unusual, or alluring brilliancy save, and except, the blazing, blinding, sole and only attraction of "ME FIRST" Chamberlain, the republican field is clear of impediments and pit-falls, and it is plain-sailing to the haven of victory and supremacy. Does any one think such an opportunity for the re-establishment of republican domination in this state is to be thrown aside on the beggarly hypothesis that George E. Chamberlain is the only man in all Oregon that can wield the gubernatorial gavel? He may be a hero unto himself and his henchmen, but there are large and impressive facts writ in the history of the man, that put him on the level of "ordinary clay" and pretty dubious clay at that!

PAY NO RENT.

In the matter of locating the new fire house and apparatus on the property of the O. R. & N. Company, the question of paying that company rent for the occupancy of the ground should be eliminated by the flat refusal of the city to pay one cent for the privilege. And this, not because of inequity, but because of the very equities of the case. The company has big area of space entirely useless at this time (and in view of the general policy pursued by it in relation to Astoria, likely to be idle for years to come), and the establishment of the proposed fire protection on its very property and at its very doors, thus angmenting its safety in the one great menuee that always confronts it.

SAVED THE LANDS.

How De Cosmus' Great Speech Happened to Be Delivered.

The longest speech on record is be lieved to have been that made by Mr de Cosmus in the legislature of British Columbia when a measure was pend ing the passage of which would have taken from a great many settlers theb lands. De Cosmus was in a minority The measure had been held back till the eve of the close of the season or session. Unless action was taken be fore noon of a given day the act would fail. De Cosmus got the floor at 16 a. m. and began a speech against the bill. Its friends supposed he would be done by 1 o'clock. At 2 o'clock he was saying, "In the second place." At $ he produced a fearful bundle of evidence and insisted on reading it.

Then the truth dawned. He was go ing to speak till noon the next day and kill the bill. Then they made merry over it and tried to shout him down but that gave him time and breathing space. They finally settled down to watch the combat between the strength of will and weakness of body. They gave no mercy, no time for dinner of wetting lips with water and no sitting down. Members went to dine and sleep in squads, but De Cosmus went on. Day dawned. The speaker was alternately dozing and trying to look wide awake. At last noon came, and a single man was triumphant. Although his voice had sunk to a husky whisper, his eyes were bleared and bloodshot, his legs tottered under him, his baked lips were cracked and smeared with blood, De Cosmus had spoken for twenty-six hours and saved the lands.

The importance of the kitchen in the house plan is being more and more recognized every day. Two widely different causes have brought this about, A more intelligent appreciation of the house plan, a keener realization of the necessity of having only good rooms, no matter what their uses might be; a knowledge that any badly lit, badly placed, badly ventilated room means a bad spot in the house, have helped mightfly in the advancement of the kitchen And the cook herself has been an enormous agent for reform. Her impormember but they are always good tance far transcends that of any mere room. As her personal estimation of her value has grown her demands for accommodations have increased in pro-

I have never seen black snakes over seven feet long and much doubt if they grow to a greater length. They are not bard to catch, though in an open field they can run about as fast as a man can. When caught, they struggle desperately until they find there is no opportunity to escape, when Since the "muck rake" speech there they will give up fighting and may be handled with impunity. I have never found these snakes to be vicious. They can be handled easily, and their bite is harmless. They can squeeze pretty hard if they get a turn around your waist, but not hard enough to break a

The Calm Spirit.

The people in all lines of duty whe do the most work are the calmest, most unhurried people in the community. Duties never wildly chase each other in their lives. One task nev er turns another out nor ever compels hurried, and therefore imperfect, doing. The calm spirit works methodical ly, doing one thing at a time and doing it well, and it therefore works swiftly though never appearing to be in hast. -Home Notes.
